

TERMS AND CONDITIONS

General Terms and Conditions of Rise Maatschap, having its registered office in Haarlem, Chamber of Commerce no. 57139938

Article 1 – General

1.1. These general terms and conditions (“the General Terms and Conditions”) apply to all legal relationships between Rise and every third party (“client”) that instructs Rise to perform any work.

1.2. Any amendments and additions to any provision of these General terms and Conditions are valid only if explicitly accepted in writing by Rise. Any such amendments and additions shall apply only to the agreement in question.

1.3. Unless agreed otherwise in writing, the applicability of the client’s terms and conditions is excluded.

1.4. If any provision of these general terms and conditions is invalid or ceases to be valid – for instance due to a change in the law – the other provisions of these general terms and conditions shall remain in force. The invalid provision in question will then be replaced by an alternative, valid provision, which is as similar as possible to the original provision in terms of its intended effects.

1.5. These General Terms and Conditions are agreed partly for the benefit of third parties engaged for the performance of an assignment.

Article 2 – Assignments

2.1. All assignments are deemed to have been given solely to Rise, even if the explicit or implicit intention is for the assignment to be performed by a particular individual within Rise. The applicability of Sections 7:404, 7:407(2) and 7:409 of the Dutch Civil Code is explicitly excluded.

2.2. An agreement is concluded at the moment that the client instructs Rise orally or in writing to perform any services and Rise accepts the assignment to perform those services in writing. If Rise does not accept the assignment in writing, the interpretation given by Rise to the content and purport of the agreement will be decisive, subject to evidence to the contrary from the client. If Rise does not confirm the assignment in writing, the client cannot derive any rights from the assignment or from any undertaking given by Rise.

2.3. Rise may refuse assignments and is not required to give reasons for doing so.

2.4. All assignments are performed exclusively for the benefit of the client. Third parties cannot derive any rights from them whatsoever.

2.5. Whenever desirable or necessary for the proper performance of the assignment, Rise is entitled to engage third parties without being required to notify the client in advance.

Article 3 – Performance

3.1. Rise shall perform the assignments to the best of its abilities. Rise expressly excludes any obligation to achieve particular results in connection with the work.

3.5. Any alerts regarding the maintenance of rights, including in relation to the renewal of registrations, deadlines etc, are given by Rise free of any obligation. Rise is only obliged to act to maintain these rights if given written instructions to do so by the client.

4.2. Unless agreed otherwise, the fee does not cover the so-called variable costs (exchange rate fluctuations, translations, authentications etc) or the costs arising from procedures in relation to official objections, objections from third parties or any other matters.
